PRES. HENRY DELIVERS ULTIMATUM TO STRIKING I. & C. TRAINMEN TODAY

Requests Them to Take Their Regular Runs Tomorrow or Consider Themselves Dismissed.

RESULT IS PROBLEMATIC

Two Cars Are Run on This Division
Sunday and Today. Will be Fairground Service.

I. & C. ULTIMATUM.
To Motormen and Conductors:
All motormen and conductors
in the employ of this Company
who do not report for duty and take out their cars when and as assigned by five (5) o'clock a. m.
Tuesday, August 26th, 1913, (or
as soon thereafter as the time arrives for them to take their regular runs and—in case of men on the extra list—when directed or called on to take a run), will be considered as having abandoned
their employment with the Company. Such men will at once turn over to the Company all property
of the Company with which they have been intrusted; and call for their pay at the usual place for receiving pay.
CHARLES L. HENRY,
General Manager.

President Charles L. Henry delivered this ultimatum at noon today,
and it was problematical what the result would be. Only tomorrow will tell.

President Henry and other I. & C.
officials refuse to express any opinion as to what the result would be.
Three different striking trainmen
declared that not a man would return to his duties in the morning.

Whether or not the differences between the I. & C. management and the striking trainmen shall be arbitrated still hinges on the recognition of the union. The I. & C. officials remain steadfast in their first assertion that Mr. Henry will meet a committee of I. & C. trainmen, but will not discuss the question with the committee,
constituted as the grievance committee demands; a representative of the union, a representative of the traction line and another person to be selected by the union and the traction
line.

Saturday a majority of the strikers located here favored following the I. & C. management's wishes and appointing a committee from their own number to arbitrate their differences. The Shelbyville division
strikers were opposed to arbitration
unless the I. & C. recognized the union, and a majority here decided that they should not go counter to the other division men's wishes.

Yesterday the strikers here sent a committee to Shelbyville to meet with the strikers from the other division
to see if they could not be persuaded to take the same view as the local trainmen. The committee from here was successful in a measure.

The Shelbyville men would not consent to arbitrate without a recognition of the union, but they did agree to send a committee to Indianapolis today to investigate the true conditions of the strike. The committee promised to report to the strikers of this division by five-thirty o'clock this afternoon. They will probably include in this report whether they will consent to arbitration
without recognition of the union.

The ultimatum of President Henry
that the strikers return to work tomorrow or lose their positions places
a different complexion on the whole question. Whether the I. & C. will even arbitrate now without a recognition of the union is not known.

When asked today what he thought
the result of President Henry's final
answer to the strikers would be, Otis Crawford, considered the ringleader
of the strikers here, replied that he did not believe a man on strike would return to work.

"This seems to be a fight to the finish," continued Mr. Crawford.
"Both sides believe they will win.
We do, else we would not stay with what we have started. Of course, it is very embarrassing to both the company and the trainmen, but we believe we are entitled to what we ask."

"I have favored meeting Mr.
Henry's request from the first. A majority of the men at the meetings
last Saturday morning wanted to appoint a committee to meet a committee from the Shelbyville division and go to Mr. Henry, but the Shelbyville boys refused to do that and a majority here voted to stay with the Shelbyville boys."

"We have let the majority rule all the time. Last Saturday morning
there were nine of us gathered at the car barns and four cars had started on their runs. We took a vote
as to whether we should strike or go out on our runs as usual. Five voted to strike and four voted to go with our runs as usual. So we struck.
One of the cars which had reached the car barns stopped and another stopped at Shelbyville. The others kept on running."

Two or three other strikers said
they did not believe the men would return to work, but, of course, they were only speaking from a personal viewpoint and had not canvassed the strikers.

Edward Jordan, president of the local union which embraces all of the interurban lines of Indiana, and a discharged motorman of the I. & C.,
was at his home here today. He refused to speak to some of the strikers here, because, it is understood, he does not believe they stood by the union as they should.

Some of the striking trainmen said
that President Jordan believed that some of the men here, who were trying to make peace by accepting President Henry's term, were injuring the cause of the union by not holding out steadfastly for their first demands. No expression could be obtained from Jordan.

Charles L. Henry came here this morning and was at the general
offices of the I. & C. until twelve o'clock when he gave his final answer to the strikers. What strikers were seen by I. & C. officials were informed of the final disposition of the case by President Henry and it was expected those who were not seen would learn of it from other
strikers or through the newspapers.

President Henry left here at noon
in an automobile for Greensburg
where he expected to give the same ultimatum to the strikers located there. From Greensburg he expected to go to Shelbyville for the same purpose, and from there on to Indianapolis.

President Henry said that service
was practically established today on all of the interurban lines out of Indianapolis except the I. & C.

President Henry said that a Mr.
Thorpe, an officer of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, with which local
this morning.

Two crews ran cars back and forth

TO RUN CARS TO FAIR.

President Charles L. Henry announced while here today that cars would be run to the county fair this year as usual, regardless of the strike. He said that the crowds would be handled as fast as ever in past years and that as good a service as in the past would be maintained all during the fair.

WILL MANNING WAS FINED

Pleaded Guilty to Having a Seine in His Possession.

Will Manning, who was arrested
late Saturday afternoon on an affidavit filed by a deputy fish and game
commissioner, charging him with having a seine in his possession, pleaded guilty before Squire Kratzer and was fined five dollars and costs, the minimum fine for the first offense. The fine and costs amounted to $18.75.
The seine was found in Manning's home. Under the law the seine was burned. The commissioners left Saturday evening but stated that they would be back and promised more arrests.

RALSTON SPOKE AT DEDICATION

Governor Was Principal Speaker at Laying of Corner Stone of Arlington Church.

INTRODUCED BY JUDGE MEGEE

The traction strike had no terrors
for the people of Arlington yesterday and the dedication of the Methodist church took place as announced. In order not to disappoint the people a trip to Indianapolis was made in an automobile and Governor
Ralston was taken to Arlington.

The ceremonies of the day were witnessed by a large crowd and the corner stone laying took place as was announced. Governor Ralston was the principal speaker for the day and his address received much praise. Judge John D. Megee introduced the governor.

The new church is being built to replace the one recently destroyed by fire and will be a beautiful structure
when completed. The Rev. U. M.
Creath is pastor of the church.

TRAIN STOPPED TO LOCATE TROUBLE

Passengers on C. H. & D. Last Night Thought They Heard Man Under Car Crying For Help.

TRAIN BACKED; NO ONE FOUND

It was reported here today that the westbound C. H. & D. train, due here at 9:50 p. m. killed a person,
east of here last night, but the C. H.
& D. agent says that if anyone was killed, the body has never been found. If no one was killed, it is probable the train crew was the butt
of a joking ventriloquist.

Passengers in one car maintained
they heard a voice calling for help
and that the sound apparently came from under the train. It was thought possible some one was riding the trucks and might be in a dangerous position. Finally the train was stopped, but no one could be found under the car. The train backed three-quarters of a mile, but no trace of any person could be found. This delay caused the train to be over an hour late in arriving here.

WATER TO BE SHUT OFF.

The city water will be shut off
at ten o'clock tonight for a few hours to make some repairs, as announced by Superintendent
Frank Brown.

KNIGHTS RETURN HOME VERY HAPPY

Uniform Rank From Here Let Everyone at Two-State Encampment Know Rushville Was Present.

CLIPPINGS INDICATE THIS

Rushville Gets Most of the Mention
in the Newspaper Notes of Camp Life at Danville.

The last of the members of the Rushville Uniform Rank company,
Knights of Pythias, returned home
yesterday from Danville, Ill., where they attended the two-state encampment of the Uniform Rank last week.
They are happy over the success of the trip from here.

The party left a week ago Sunday evening. One automobile load returned last Wednesday evening, but
the others saw the encampment out.
The following clippings from one issue of the Danville Commercial-News indicates how Rushville broke
in:

Nowhere in camp is there to be found a more genuinely good bunch
of good fellows than in Ivy Company,
Number 35 of Rushville, Indiana.
Rushville Company came through in automobiles, a distance of 150 miles,
arriving in camp about 6 o'clock on Sunday evening. Five cars brought them in, with "Lizzie," a prize beauty
of 1911 model, painted in the beautiful colors of the order, red, yellow and blue, in the lead. "Lizzie" is some car and right justifiably does she bear her banner, "Excuse Our Noise." Following close upon the trail of the giantess came a noisy little Hup, bearing the exclamation,
"We Should Worry," and other cars,
more or less respectfully inclined followed the leader. With Rushville
Company came Adjutant General
Samuel L. Trabue of Rushville, chief of staff to General Stobart, who in loyalty to his "bunch" and in probable anticipation of the good times
in store in camp 35 refused the quarters reserved for him at headquarters and shared the tents with his boys.

Shortly after their arrival, a beautiful gold (?) medal was presented to their captain, Ges. P. Hunt. The medal, which closely resembles, when the sunlight strikes it in a certain light, an old-fashioned pie-tin of Mother's variety, only a little smaller, is inscribed with these words:
"Carnegie Hero Medal, presented to Ges. P. Hunt, captain, for managing the 'rough bunch' from Rushville."
The medal was formally presented to Captain Hunt, who struts proudly about the parade-ground, with the shining bauble resting serenely upon his manly bosom.

No visitor at Rushville headquarters is allowed to depart without making the acquaintance of "Omo,"
the camp mascot, a tiny gray and white kitten, which was picked up at Crawfordsville, as the gang came over, and which has been cherished,
fed and bathed as tenderly as the offspring of a millionaire spendthrift.

One of the banners which has been the means of attracting much attention to Rushville Company
bears the inscription, "In speaking of us, say 'Hod-dickety-dog,' meaning 'I'm hep.'"

One of the automobiles in the crowd was the official press car, owned and driven by W. O. Feudner, of the Rushville Republican and his star
reporter, Doc Hiner, whose all-too-
becoming modesty kept him away
from the press headquarters and prevented his visiting the down-town newspaper offices during his stay in the city—an unmistakable breach of etiquette, for which Rushville Company will promptly proceed to chas-
tise him.

BOY'S FINGERS CUT OFF

Youngest Son of Will Newbold is Painfully Hurt.

Two fingers on one of the hands
of the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs.
Will Newbold were so badly lacer-ated when caught in a lawnmower
Saturday evening that the little finger had to be amputated at the second joint and the next finger at the first joint. Robert, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Newbold, was pushing the lawnmower upside down when his little brother, who is only four years
old, in some manner got his fingers
between the blades. Dr. Frank H.
Green, assisted by Dr. Lowell M.
Green, dressed the wounds.

BARN FIRE CAUSES A LOSS OF $2,700

Blaze of Unknown Origin Destroys
Structure on Fred Hillgoss
Farm in Walker Township.

GRAIN AND HAY DESTROYED

The large barn on the Fred Hill-goss farm, located in the southeastern part of Walker township, was destroyed by fire Sunday morning at one o'clock. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is estimated to be at least $2,700. The amount of the insurance is not known as the owner was away at the time of the fire and has not returned yet.

A crying baby awakened Mr.
Jackson, tenant on the farm and then the roof of the barn had caved
in and the sidewalls were tottering.
There was no possible chance to save it. Consumed in the flames were twenty-four tons of hay, twenty-
four tons of baled oats straw,
some corn, implements and harness.
The tenant sustained a slight loss.

The tenant can not account for the fire. It is thought it could not have started from spontaneous combustion
because the hay was not green
enough.

WAGON HIT BY I. & C. CAR WEST OF CITY

Boys in Charge Escaped by Jumping
—Property of Robert Holt Demolished.

OCCURRED AT HACKLEMAN

Eastbound local I. & C. car, due
here at 1:42 o'clock this afternoon
hit a wagon at the Hackleman stop,
one mile west of the city, but luckily
no one was injured. The wagon was the property of Robert Holt and was in charge of two boys. The horses
had crossed the track when the car
hit. The boys escaped by jumping out the back end. The car was in charge of James Banby and James Rearick. They claim that the boys saw the car and that when almost
on the track started to back off and then went ahead with the result that the wagon was hit broadside. The wagon was thrown high in the air
and the force knocked the horses down but they were not injured. The front of the car was damaged and it was taken to the barns on its arrival here.

The Suffragettes now say "The ballot or death," but when they get it
they may be like the men, who are usually willing to go to the polls when it doesn't rain.

TALKS WHERE HE ONCE PLAYED

The Rev. Edwin H. Carr of New York
a Rush County Boy, Grows Reminiscent in Sermon.

HE TELLS OF THE EARLY DAYS

In Closing Gives Brief History of His Life Since Leaving Rushville
23 Years Ago.

The Rev. Edwin H. Carr, born
and reared in this city, grew reminiscent, when last night he appeared at the union services at the coliseum before a Rushville audience for the first time in his career of nineteen years as a Methodist minister. He is now the pastor of an influential church in Manhattan, New York.

"Years ago," said the New York
minister, "this park was known to me as a boy as Theodore Abercrombie's woods. I looked upon it as a place to play, to listen to the birds,
to wander along with no definite
thing in view except to marvel at the beauties of nature."

"Tonight I find myself in the same spot. I would like to grow reminiscent, and I will, but I will first select a text and preach upon it. In St.
Mark, thirteenth chapter and thirty-
first verse is the following: 'Heaven
and earth shall pass away, but my word shall not pass away.'"

"I like to think that after we die
we shall take up something we never experienced. I wonder if this is the correct interpretation. I wonder if we shall pass on to something better. The farmer plants his seed corn.
The seed passes away yet it passes
on to something better. The farmer plants his seed corn. The seed passes away yet it passes on to something better."

"I feel that Rushville is not the same Rushville it was twenty-three years ago when I left. It is the same, yet different. The same trees grow and some of the same houses remain, but the whole aspect of the place has changed and is something
on which you should be congratulated. The old Rushville has passed away, but passed on to something better, greater and grander."

"This is what God means. Why should we believe that God annihilated all wonderful thing which he created? Why not think of them as passing on to something in which the

Are Women

Smarter Than Men?

It is admitted that a woman knows how to buy more for a dollar than a man does.

Let the average married man
do the household shopping for a week and see how the cost of living will jump.

Women are more constant
readers of advertising than
men. Women read advertisements because they appeal to their innate sense of values.
They take pride in getting the most for their money.

They like to shop—and before actually visiting the stores
they read the newspapers to see what the stores have to offer.

Yet mere man "throws out
his chest" and prates of his superiority.

Read the advertising in today's Daily Republican and see what an index it is to your immediate needs.

HOLDING "BARON" AS AN ALLEGED RAFFLES

Society Man Is Arrested On Theft Charge.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 25.—"Baron" Harry E. Simonin, society man and social highwayman, was arrested in the surf, charged with jewel thefts amounting it is said to $50,000. William Oliver of Philadelphia, one of the alleged victims, pointed out the "baron," who was at the time in a bathing suit. A policeman took the bather into custody.

While detectives have been searching in Newport, Narragansett Pier and elsewhere, the "baron" has been living quietly at a respectable house appealing to the trade of streetcar men. He rarely left this house in the three weeks he lived there except to go bathing.

The "baron" is twenty-four years old and inherited $50,000, which he spent quickly. Oliver was his friend and picked him up in Philadelphia, taking him to his home, and the charge is that the "baron" eventually robbed the house of his benefactor, getting $5,000 in diamonds. The prisoner admits his identity, but will make no statement.

When the "baron's" room was searched and his pockets examined nearly fifteen pawn tickets were found for jewels left with brokers in Philadelphia and New York. All these diamonds will be recovered, and in this way it is expected that clues connecting Simonin with various mysterious society robberies will be obtained.

POWERFUL RADIO STATION.

Believed Its Waves Will Reach Buenos Aires From Panama.

One of the greatest naval radio stations in the world, even eclipsing in size the new station at Arlington, Va., is to be constructed by the United States at Calmito, in the canal zone. It will be known as the Darien radio station, and, whereas only one of the Arlington towers reaches the height of 600 feet, all three of the towers at Darien will be that height.

The Darien plant, it is expected, will be able to communicate with San Francisco, as well as with Arlington, and to reach into the southern seas as far as Valdivia, Chile, 421 miles south of Valparaiso, on the west coast of South America, and as far as Buenos Aires, Argentina, on the east side. Throwing its waves across the Atlantic, this new station should communicate with the island of St. Vincent, 500 miles west of Africa.

The Darien station will be used exclusively for government business, principally as a relay station for communicating with naval vessels in southern waters, and the present wireless stations at Colon and Balboa will continue to handle messages for ships using the canal.

HEN AS TREE PROTECTOR.

Farmers Turn Them Into Their Orchards to Destroy Worms.

Warren Farmer and T. W. Hubbard, farmers of Liberal, Kan., claim to have found a way of protecting orchard trees from worms. Their theory is that the worms work up close to the ground and all that is necessary is to fence the orchard and turn a lot of hens loose in it. They will save the trees and also provide a good income as well. Both claim to have proved the benefits of the theory.

Another theory is that the hen is a sort of farmer and keeps the ground from becoming packed by the ceaseless scratching, a sort of summer fallowing machine that results in keeping the surface of the soil stirred up and preserves the moisture beneath.

The plan costs nothing to try, is not patented, and in the cases mentioned has at least brought results.

The State of Indiana, Rush County.

In the Rush Circuit Court

September Term, 1913.

Peter A. Mummert vs. Cora Mummert.

Complaint No. 57.

Now comes the plaintiff, Albert C. Stevens, attorney, and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit of Arthur Shockley that said defendant, Cora Mummert, is a non-resident of the State of Indiana; that said action is for divorce, and that said non-resident is a necessary party thereto.

Notice is therefore given said defendant, last named, that unless she be and appear on the forty-third day of the next term of the Rush Circuit court, to be held on the third Monday of October, A. D. 1913, at the court house in Rushville in said county and state, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in her absence.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court, affixed at Rushville, this 23d day of August, A. D. 1913.

Abe Martin Has Quit Farming.

One of the 30 horse power, 6 plow oil pull tractors, recently sold by me, will be in operation next Monday afternoon and Tuesday forenoon, on the farm of Robert M. Gardner, about 1½ miles south of Goddard's church, and about 5 miles southwest of Rushville, and I would be glad for any one interested to see it work.

Some power, other than horses, seems to be coming on the farms, for certain work, such as breaking hard ground, and crushing hard clods. The "Oil Pull" appears now to be the best thing and is coming, and coming fast, and it is pretty safe to say that the Rush county farmer is never much behind the procession.

I have made some effort to investigate this line of farm machinery as it may be remembered by some in the early days, and such information as I have been able to secure is free to my friends and customers at any time. Respectfully,

Our stock of monuments this season, surpasses anything we have heretofore carried, embracing a neat selection from the modestly plain to the elaborately carved from model designs.

An order for a monument placed now will insure its erection for Decoration Day.

The Products from the numerous quarries in the Barre, Vermont, district vary, not alone in color, but also in quality of stock. Who selects yours?

Montello and Millstone granite are of one uniform quality, the highest grade of monumental granite quarried.

HUERTA TO HEAR THE LAST WORD

It Will Be Delivered to the American Congress.

RIGHT FROM THE PRESIDENT

If This Government's Plan Looking to Mediation Is Not Accepted Before Noon Tomorrow President Wilson Will Hand Down to Congress a Full and Final Report on the Details of the Mexican Situation.

Washington, Aug. 25.—As viewed by United States officials, the Mexican situation is nearing a crisis. They believe that unless President Huerta accepts the American mediation proposals involving his retirement from office within the next twenty-four hours, the negotiations to all practical effects will be terminated. A high officer of the department put it this way: "Provisional President Huerta has until tomorrow to accept our plan."

Unless Huerta does give in to the American demands before President Wilson begins his address to congress at noon tomorrow, there is now little belief among officials that he will yield at all or that the present revolution in the southern republic will be settled peacefully through the good offices of the United States.

Should Huerta maintain until tomorrow noon his policy of flatly demanding recognition by the United States and flatly refusing suggestions not predicated upon this, President Wilson will give to the joint session of the house and the senate all the information on the situation and his own views as to the duties which devolve upon the United States.

President Wilson has completed and discussed with Secretary of State Bryan the first draft of this address. One statement contained in the address will be the flat and final announcement that the United States will not under any circumstances recognize the Huerta government.

The president is firmly resolved on this much of his policy for dealing with Mexico in the event that the mediation plan is not accepted. This announcement will be the basis of whatever policy is evolved for the United States after Tuesday.

There is little doubt of the reception that this announcement would receive at the hands of congress. Members of both houses are convinced of the wisdom of refusing to recognize Mexico until the conditions there are greatly improved and a president has been chosen by a constitutional election. With only a few dissenting voices the president could count upon the solid support of congress for this part of the tentative program which he may disclose to the members of the legislative branch tomorrow.

It is the president's intention now to hold a conference at the White House this evening with the senate and house committee on foreign affairs. At this conference his address will be discussed in detail and suggestions from members of the committee as to the proper policy to be adopted will be considered. Arrangements for the conference have not been completed, however, and it is possible that the president may finally decide to let the members of the committees, like their colleagues in congress, hear of his plans for the first time when he addresses them on Tuesday.

Official Washington is somewhat anxious as a result of the realization that a climax at last has come to the impressive string of events that have followed the summoning of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson from Mexico City. Much of the hope that Huerta would give in in time to forestall the delivery of the president's address to congress was demolished today by the failure of the Mexican president to take any step indicative of a yielding attitude. Still there would be no great surprise should news be received here from Envoy Lind at the last hour that he had been notified of the acceptance of the proposal which he bore to Mexico City.

These officials maintain the belief that Huerta cannot hope to continue long in power at the Mexican capital unless he can procure a supply of money. They rely much upon the statement that Huerta's confidence has been shaken by his failure to float a loan in Paris during the past week.

The Wilson administration is counting, too, upon the pressure exerted by the powers. Any action taken by foreign governments thus far is entirely informal and unofficial. It has been merely in the character of a hint.

TRAIN CRASHES INTO AUTO

Five Persons in a Party of Eight Killed Near St. Johns.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—The Hoosier Limited on the Monon crashed into an auto loaded with eight persons near St. Johns, Ind., at 7 o'clock Sunday night. Five persons were killed and the other three were severely injured. The passengers in the automobile were all Chicagoans.

The dead: Mrs. Leo H. Reuben, 1133 West Madison street, and her five-year-old son; Alexander Reuben, 1515 West Sixty-third street; Mrs. Alexander Brown and three-year-old daughter.

DEAN C. WORCESTER.

Secretary of the Interior in the Philippine Islands.

REPORT ON SLAVERY IN THE PHILIPPINES

Dean Worcester Points Out a Serious Problem.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Flourishing throughout the Philippine Islands are not only peonage, but chattel slavery, according to a special report made by Commissioner Dean C. Worcester, secretary of the interior, to the governor general. The report is the outcome of a request for information made to the war department by the senate on May 1, when Senator Borah read a letter from Commissioner Worcester stating in a general way that slavery existed on such a scale as to make it one of the most serious problems confronting the government. Dean Worcester's report is all the more interesting because the war department reported to the senate that it had no information concerning slavery in the islands. Commissioner Worcester says he made a report on slavery to the bureau of insular affairs in 1910 and another in 1912.

Defining peonage as the condition of a debtor held by his creditor in a form of involuntary servitude and slavery as a condition in which a human being is held as a chattel, fed and clothed but not paid, Mr. Worcester describes in great detail the different forms of traffic in human beings, the impossibility of suppressing the business under the present laws and the futile efforts at new legislation which have been made from time to time since the American occupation of the islands. The citations cover the entire period down to the present time.

BANKERS' PLAN IS OPPOSED

Leaders in House Won't Stand For Chicago Recommendations.

Washington, Aug. 25.—According to Democratic leaders the changes in the banking and currency bill proposed by the bankers in session in Chicago will not be adopted by the house. The measure may be amended in the senate to conform in part to the representations of the bankers, but the house leaders will not countenance any modifications that are regarded as fundamental.

The changes sought by the bankers, in the opinion of the leaders, contemplate the framing of a new bill.

Bride Killed in Runaway.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 25.—Mrs. George Kovach, twenty-one years old, a bride of a few months, was killed when she was thrown from a farm wagon in which she was riding with her husband. She sustained a broken neck. The accident occurred during a runaway, caused by an automobile.

Brown County Church Stoned.

Nashville, Ind., Aug. 25.—While the Rev. Van Amburgh Frost was preaching at Oak Grove schoolhouse a number of rocks were thrown through the windows. Mrs. Jesse Harden was painfully injured when struck by one of the missiles.

INVOKES LAW ON "SAND SUCKERS"

Chicago Parties Declared to Be Stealing Indiana.

THEFT OF BOTTOM OF LAKE

Attorney General Honan Has Taken a Hand in the Long and Heretofore Unsuccessful Fight Waged at Michigan City Against Parties Who Have Been Pumping Sand and Gravel From the Bottom of the Lake.

Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 25.—A petition for a restraining order has been filed in the Laporte county circuit court by the state on relation of Thomas M. Honan, attorney general, against the Lake Sand company of Chicago, an Illinois corporation, to prevent the defendant from sending its steamers here and taking sand and gravel from the bed of Lake Michigan in Indiana waters within a limit of four miles from shore.

It is said that these "sandsuckers" have taken 1,000,000 tons of sand, worth half a cent a ton before removal from the bed of the lake, and 500,000 tons of gravel, worth 10 cents a ton before removal, all the property of the state, and sold it within the last five years in Chicago and elsewhere outside Indiana.

The petition for an injunction calls for an accounting. For more than five years this city has been complaining against the operation of the "sandsuckers" for the reason that it was believed that the barges were damaging the bathing beach, vitiating the water supply and endangering the intakes that lead from the lake.

In its hard fight against the Lake Sand company the city found in every move it had no jurisdiction and an appeal was taken to the attorney general. The boats avoided this port and worked at night, leaving early in the morning. One of the boats was driven in by a gale and service was obtained on its master by Sheriff Tilden.

HE KILLED HIS COMPANION

Tragedy Follows Young Men's Visit to G. A. R. Reunion.

West Baden, Ind., Aug. 25.—As a result of a quarrel which arose during a G. A. R. reunion at the West Baden Springs grounds, Everett Compton, twenty years old, was shot and instantly killed and Claude Pinnick, seventeen years old, is in jail charged with the shooting. Everett Wilson, eighteen years old, a friend of Pinnick, is held as an accessory.

The young men visited the spring grounds to view the attractions of the reunion of Basil B. Decker Post, G. A. R. When they engaged in a quarrel Wilson is said to have pulled a revolver from his pocket and handed it to Pinnick, urging him to shoot Compton. Pinnick promptly fired and the bullet entered Compton's left eye, killing him instantly. It is said the young men had been drinking.

Marshal Roach arrested Pinnick and Wilson, both young men having returned home and gone to bed. They were taken to the jail at Paoli to await trial.

Compton was a laborer employed in West Baden, and is survived by a widow and a two-months-old baby. Pinnick was the son of Albert Pinnick, a farmer, who was frozen to death in the country near here a year ago.

A strike of interurban trainmen on the roads running into Indianapolis has crippled the service on some of the lines, while others have filled the places of the strikers and are running on schedule.

He Was Then Paroled.

Newcastle, Ind., Aug. 25.—Isaac Musselman of Knightstown, who attempted to murder his wife and stepson, Donely Finley, several weeks ago, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill, and was sentenced to prison for from two to fourteen years and fined $25 and costs. He was then paroled.

Three Fatal Crossing Accidents.

Indianapolis, Aug. 25.—Lewis B. Nield, fifty-two years old, was run down and killed by a Vandalia train at East street and the Belt railroad; James H. Lawrence, sixty years old, was killed at Thirtieth street and L. E. & W. tracks, and James Stanett of Brownsburg, Ind., was run down and killed at Concord and Walnut streets.

Progress of Tariff Bill.

Washington, Aug. 25.—The senate Democratic leaders expect to conclude before the end of the present week so much of the tariff bill as deals with rates and a free list, leaving the administrative features and the income tax to be disposed of in the week following.

Drowns Himself in Cistern.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Aug. 25.—Joseph McWethy, sixty years old, ended his life by drowning in a cistern at his home.

Little Boy Killed by Auto.

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 25.—Alvin Green, a six-year-old boy, was killed here by being run over by an automobile driven by E. G. Mickey.

Little Mary—"Anty Drudge, I told my mama about Fels-Naptha Soap, and she tried it last Monday for her washing. She says it's fine, and she's so glad that I learn such useful things at school."

Anty Drudge—"I am glad that you remembered what I told you. Tell your mama that Fels-Naptha is just as good for all other kinds of work as it is for washing. And tell her she ought to be very proud of such a clever little daughter."

Save your strength; save your time; save doctors' bills and coal or gas bills; save your clothes. You can do all this if you use Fels-Naptha Soap for your housework and washing. Fels-Naptha works best in cool or lukewarm water.

For house-cleaning it is the greatest help a woman can have.

For use every day in the year for all kinds of work. Full directions on the Red and Green Wrapper. Better buy Fels-Naptha by the box or carton.

The Boy and Dirt.

As vacation days pass, the Small Boy seems more and more of a little savage. The mothers start out with hopes to keep them spruced and starched. But boy nature has an affinity for dirt. Put a clean suit on an active boy, and turn him loose, the chances are that within an hour he has been rolling or tumbling. After a few days' struggle, the maternal standard of cleanliness becomes much more elastic. The average boy gang by the last of August is reduced to a dull uniformity of soiled overalls and khaki.

The last days of vacation are premonitory to a general period of boy cleaning. The new clothes purchased at this season gives the youngster some slight pleasures, which is more than offset by the certainty of scrubbing to come. The prospective regular washings and hair brushings perhaps seem even more harassing to the little barbarians than the toil of the school room.

It is not clear whether Woodrow Wilson, Bill Taft, or Teddy Roosevelt, is to blame for the draught in the jeans belt, but this question will be thoroughly threshed out in the fall elections.

The theatrical companies having secured a few fellows who once carried pears in New York theaters, are now starting out on the road as the full original Broadway productions.

earth shall take on something wonderful?

"Perhaps I should not touch on this question, but I like to think of heaven passing away. If you fix for me a fast, unchanging heaven, it loses all of its attractiveness for me. I like the idea that heaven shall change. The changes of nature make the world beautiful."

The minister pointed out that the text was explicit on some things that are unchangeable. The eternal speakings of Almighty God are true from everlasting to everlasting, he asserted. The Rev. Mr. Carr referred to three things which are unchangeable, and added that he was so glad that there are some things which never change.

The first of these, he said, was that in the divine nature there is a tremendous hatred of sin, has always been and ever will be. I thank him for the unchangeableness of His nature.

The second of these, the minister said, was that God was merciful, had ever been and always would be. The third unchangeable trait of God, the pastor said, was God's redemptive life. The thought of this has always been ringing in His soul, the Rev. Mr. Carr said, and He tells us that the purpose of redeeming love shall never cease.

"God's purpose is to lift us up," continued the speaker. "Every man should so live that he puts faith in others and inspires them. He should also live in God so as to inspire them."

"The problems of today are the same old problems. They had labor problems before Christ. It depends not so much on what a man makes as what he spends. The problems of transportation today are just as serious as they were in the day of the Greek runner."

The Rev. Mr. Carr said he thought it might be of interest to his friends here to know something of his life since he left Rushville. He said when he left Rushville twenty-three years ago he concluded to study law, but the impression was on him that he should give himself more thoroughly to God than ever before. Mr. Carr went to Valparaiso, Ind., to study law in the university there, but the president, when he saw Mr. Carr, told him that he should be a minister.

Mr. Carr called on the Methodist minister in Valparaiso and told him what the Valparaiso president had said. The very fact that you came to me seems to be proof that God wants you to be a minister, Mr. Carr was told, and that night he left for Syracuse, New York, the seat of a Methodist theological school. He arrived in Syracuse with $1.15 in his pocket to get an education. He worked his way through school and graduated in four years. He first preached in Uthica, New York, where he was married. He entered the New York conference and was sent to a small town where a normal school was located. He was next appointed to a county seat of Orange county, New York. While there his father and mother here died, and he returned for the funeral. From there he was sent to Lennox, Mass., and finally to Matteawan, New York, the place the New York asylum for criminal insane is located.

"This, you will remember," he recalled, "is the seat of the place from where the infamous, famous Harry Thaw escaped. I have seen Thaw many times and have preached to him as often. There was no chaplain at this institution and the ministers of Matteawan and an adjoining town supplied the pulpit at the asylum by turns."

"Thaw attended the services regularly and always sat the second row from the front. On the whole it seems to me that he is nothing more than an aristocratic degenerate."

The Rev. Mr. Carr was transferred to the church he is now identified with. He aid ministers in this sized place can not realize the problems of a Manhattan preacher. He declared it was impossible to build a church with apart house dwellers. They do not consider it their home. He said a preacher could remain for ever and ever with a charge and always have a new congregation, the changes in residence in the apartment house districts were so fast.

tise him, upon their arrival home. Doc, with his boss, returned home Wednesday evening. Enroute to Danville, the press car bore the banner, informing the world. "Sure thing, Ivy Company always goes and goes right," while General Trabue's car gave the warning "Rushville to Danville or bust." All cars in this delegation, instead of making use of their horns and sirens as warnings on the highway, made use of great cow-bells, which were carried by every car.

But take it from one who knows, Rushville Company is all to the good, a newspaper man's friend.

Major-General Arthur J. Stobbart was guest of honor at luncheon at the Hof-Brau, Friday noon, when Ivy Company 35, of Rushville, Ind., entertained. Adjutant General Samuel L. Trabue, a member of General Stobbart's staff is also a member of Ivy Company, which has had the best time during the week of any company in the encampment. In their gaily decorated automobiles, this Rushville delegation left the city about 2 o'clock Friday, with the great cow bells, in lieu of horns and sirens proclaiming their coming, long before they hove into view.

The reception given by Major-General Stobbart, his Adjutant General, Samuel L. Trabue, Brigadier-General William P. Grey and Colonel John P. Bertoni, and their staff officers at headquarters Thursday evening was a decided success, despite the threatening weather and attracted a very large attendance of Danville citizens, visitors and Sir Knights. During the evening the Illinois and Indiana Brigade bands rendered a double concert, alternating, and punch was served the while.

Major-General Stobbart, with his adjutant, Samuel L. Trabue and Col. John P. Bertoni, made a visit to the Soldiers' Home Friday afternoon, visiting each building in the reservation and expressed themselves more than delighted with Uncle Sam's provision for his defenders.

Amusements

The Portola will show a three reel Edison feature tonight entitled "Mary Stewart." It is a great historical production said to be accurate in every detail. The picture is acted by a fine cast including Mary Fuller and Miriam Nesbitt.

The Princess will show a Lubin drama "From Ignorance to Light" for the first picture tonight. Ormi Hawley and Edwin Carew are seen in this picture and it is said to be a clever production. The other is a Vitagraph comedy "Bunny's Dilemma." John Bunny and Flora Finch are shown in this film.

The Palace offers tonight a three part feature entitled "The Witch," showing the scenes of witch craft days. This is a powerful drama and is said to be a real feature.

Once more are we to be lucky enough to get the Guy Players during fair week. It is seldom that a company is good enough to play a town more than once. The old saying, "The proof of the pudding is in the eating" holds good with the Guy show, as they have played here for years and the fair week would not seem complete without them, that is why we are all glad to see them again. Tonight they open their engagement with "Down East."

STREET IS OPENED.

The Perkins street pavement was opened clear through yesterday. Brick was laid to the point in Eighth street, where the macadam begins, early in the week, but the street was not opened for traffic until yesterday. The macadam was built from the end of the pavement to the Campbell barn before the work here in the city was started.

George B. Moore, Jr., bookkeeper at Reynolds & Clifford's will move his family into the Mock residence in North Jackson street this week.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Rushville People Know How to Save it.

Many Rushville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Rushville citizen's recommendation.

Mrs. Ella Endicott, 125 South Harrison St., Rushville, Ind., says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills in our family with good results. A member of the family suffered from severe pains through his back and had difficulty in straightening after stooping. His kidneys were also irregular in action. Finally he used Doan's Kidney Pills and they corrected the troubles."

Mrs. Gertrude Murphy and daughter, Miss Margaret Kirsch, of Anderson, who have been visiting here, accompanied them home for a visit.

Society News

George Wall and Miss Irene Meyer were married Saturday night by the Rev. C. M. Yocum at the Main Street Christian church parsonage.

Invitations have been received here for the coming wedding of Miss Grace Whitman and George L. Kelly of Houston, Texas. The marriage will occur Wednesday evening, September 3, in the Central Christian church there. Mr. Kelly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelly, formerly of this city.

An organization known as the T. A. E. club has been formed with the following members: The Misses Alleine Budd, Marie Clawson, Leah Flint, Lucille Gray, Ruth Innis, Jean McClanahan, Mary Smith, Gladys Wallace and Marguerite Wolcott. The club was formed for social purposes only and the first meeting was held Saturday afternoon.

Miss Fay Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowe, and Ben Sparks were married Saturday night at eight o'clock at the Main Street Christian church parsonage by the Rev. C. M. Yocum. Both are well known young people of this city. The ceremony was witnessed only by a small number of friends. Mr. Sparks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sparks and is employed as city letter carrier. Both are graduates from the local high school. They are at home in their newly furnished home in North Perkins street.

STANLEY SAYS HE'S NOT GUILTY

Circus Employee Willing to Enter Guilty Plea to Charge of Accepting Stolen Property.

ARRESTED HERE CIRCUS DAY

Isaac Musselman of Knightstown Sentenced to Penitentiary For Shooting—Later Paroled.

Ed Stanley, the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus employee who was arrested here Friday, August 15 for the theft of two automobile tires at Newcastle was arraigned before Judge Edward Jackson in the Henry circuit court at Newcastle Saturday and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of petit larceny. He was alleged to have stolen an auto tire from the rear of W. C. Bond's auto and another from Mrs. J. M. Loer's machine. He denies that he stole the tires, but acknowledged that he knew they were stolen when he received them. He said he would plead guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property.

The same sentence is given on a petit larceny charge as that given on a charge of receiving stolen property, but Stanley said he would rather plead guilty under the right charge. He will most likely be arraigned next week.

Isaac Musselman, the Knightstown man, who recently tried to kill his wife, Lucy, and her son by a former marriage, Donley Finley, who was arrested by Charles Martin, a night watchman, after they had exchanged revolver shots, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assault and battery with intent to murder and received a sentence of from two to fourteen years in the state penitentiary and was fined $25 and costs.

He was then paroled by the court but was sent back to jail to await the arrival of parole officers.

over the division from Connorsville yesterday and today, but no cars were operated over the Shelbyville division. The cars were operated by James Banby and James Rearick, and Motorman Clarkson and Marsh Wright, a car inspector who is acting as conductor.

Banby, Rearick and Clarkson are all seasoned trainmen and have been through strikes before. It is for this reason that they refused to have anything to do with the union or the strike. It is understood that Clarkson was formerly a member of the amalgamated, and when the union did not pay a dollar a day on a strike as it agreed to, he quit and will have nothing more to do with strikes or this union.

SERIES OF MEETINGS BEGIN.

A series of protracted meetings was started at Big Flatrock Christian church yesterday. The sermons are preached by the regular pastor, the Rev. Mr. Bryant of Indianapolis. C. C. Carroll, a singing evangelist of California, and his wife, an accompanist, are assisting in the meeting.

One advantage of the prospective election in Mexico is that it will not be necessary to wait until after the voting before getting returns.

REX BEACH ADVENTURE STORIES

With Interest to Date

By REX BEACH

Hanford had not read the Englishman wrong, and when behind locked doors he had outlined his plan the big fellow gazed at him with amazed admiration, his blue eyes sparkling.

"Gad! That appeals to me." There was no timidity in Lowe's words. The two men shook hands.

"I'll attend to Wylie's clerk," said the former, "and now we'd better rehearse."

"But what makes you so sure you can handle that young fellow?" queried Lowe.

"Oh, I've studied him the same way I've studied you."

"Blime, you're complimentary!"

"And since I know definitely that the cipher code is in that office the rest is comparatively easy. You leave it to me. Now let's get to work."

Back in Newark, N. J., Jackson Wylie, Sr., was growing impatient. In spite of his son's weekly reports he had begun to fret at the indefinite nature of the results. If he could only get that royal commission or some member of it to visit the plant he felt sure that he could get the job.

Mr. Jackson Wylie, Sr., had a mysterious way of closing contracts once he came in personal contact with the proper people. In the words of his envious competitors, he had "good terminal facilities." But business was bad, and he had relied upon the certainty of securing this tremendous contract; he had even turned work away so that his plant might be ready for the rush, with the result that many of his men were idle and he was running far below capacity. But he had his eye upon those English bonuses. When his associates rather timidly called his attention to the present state of affairs he handled them roughly and assured them bitingly that he knew his business. Nevertheless he wished it was time to submit the bid that had lain for a month upon his desk. The magnitude of the figures was getting on his nerves.

On the 10th of May he received a cablegram in his own official cipher which, translated, read:

Meet Sir Thomas Drummond, chairman Royal Barrata Bridge commission, arriving Cunard liner Campania 13th, stopping Waldorf. Arrange personally Barrata contract. Caution.

The cablegram was unsigned, but its address, "At Wylie," betrayed not only its destination, but also the identity of its sender. Mr. Jackson Wylie became tremendously excited. The last word conjured up bewildering possibilities. He was about to consult his associates when it struck him that the greatest caution he could possibly observe would consist in holding his own tongue. They had seen fit to criticize his handling of the matter thus far; hence he decided to tell them nothing until he had first seen Sir Thomas Drummond. He imagined he might then have something electrifying to say. He had "dealt from the bottom" too often, he had closed too many bridge contracts in his time, to mistake the meaning of this visit or of that last word "Caution."

It was hard work to hold in, however, and he was at a high state of tension when on the morning of the 14th day of May he strolled into the Waldorf-Astoria and inquired at the desk for Sir Thomas Drummond.

There was no Sir Thomas stopping at the hotel, although a Mr. T. Drummond from London had arrived on the previous afternoon. Mr. Jackson Wylie placed the heel of his right shoe upon the favorite corn of his other extremity and bore down upon it heavily. He must be getting into his dotage, he decided, or else the idea of a $5,000,000 job rattled him.

At the rear desk he had his card blown up through the tube to "Mr. T. Drummond" and a few moments later was invited to take the elevator.

Arriving at the sixth floor, he needed no page to guide him. Boots pointed his way to the apartment of the distinguished visitor as plainly as a lettered signboard—boots of all descriptions—hunting boots, riding boots, street shoes, low shoes, pumps, sandals, black ones and tan ones, all in a row outside the door. Evidently Sir Thomas Drummond traveled in style and had come prepared for emergencies. Nothing was missing from the collection unless perhaps a pair of rubber hip boots.

A stoop shouldered old man with a marked accent and a port wine nose showed him into a parlor, where the first object upon which Mr. Wylie's active eyes alighted was a mass of blue prints on the center table. He knew those drawings. He had figured on them himself. He likewise noted a hatbox and a great, shapeless English bag, both plastered crazily with hotel and steamship labels from every quarter of the world. It was plain to be seen that Sir Thomas was a globe trotter.

"Mr. Drummond begs you to be seated," the valet announced, with what seemed an intentional accent on the "Mr.," then moved silently out. Mr. Wylie remarked to himself upon the value of discreet servants. They were very valuable, very hard to get. This must be some lifelong servitor of his lordship's family.

There was no occasion to inquire the identity of the tall, florid Englishman in tweeds who entered a moment later, a bundle of estimates in his hand. "Sir Thomas Drummond, Chairman of the Royal Barrata Bridge Commission," was written all over him in large type.

His lordship did not go to the trouble of welcoming his visitor, but scanned him sharply through his glasses.

"You are Mr. Jackson Wylie, Sr., he demanded abruptly.

"That is my name."

"Owner of the Atlantic Bridge company of Newark, N. J.?"

"The same."

"You received a cablegram from your son in London?"

"Yes, your lordship."

Sir Thomas made a gesture as if to forego the title.

"Let me see it."

Mr. Wylie produced the cablegram, and Drummond scanned it hastily. Evidently the identification was complete.

"Does any one besides your son and yourself know the contents of this message?"

"Not a soul."

"You have not told any one of my coming?"

"No, sir."

"Very well." Sir Thomas deliberately tore the cablegram into small bits, then tossed the fragments into a waste paper basket before waving his caller to a chair. He was very cold, very forceful.

"Do you understand all about this bridge?" he demanded brusquely. Wylie senior nodded.

"Can you build it in the time specified?"

"With ease."

"Have you submitted your bid?"

"Not yet. I"—

"What is the amount of your proposal?"

The president of the Atlantic Bridge company gasped. This was bolder than anything he had ever experienced. Many times he had witnessed public officials like Sir Thomas Drummond approach this delicate point, but never with such matter of fact certainty and lack of moral scruple. Evidently, however, this Englishman had come to trade and wanted a direct answer. There was no false pose, no romance here. But Jackson Wylie, Sr., was too shrewd a business man to name a rock bottom price to begin with. The training of a lifetime would not permit him to deny himself a liberal leeway for hedging; therefore he replied cautiously:

"My figures will be approximately $1,400,000." It was his longest speech thus far.

For what seemed an hour to the bridge builder Sir Thomas Drummond gazed at him with a cold, hard eye, then folded his papers, rolled up his blue prints, placed them in the big traveling bag and carefully locked it.

When he had finished he flung out this question suddenly:

"Does that include the commissions?"

Up to this point Mr. Jackson Wylie had spoken mainly in monosyllables.

"I shall ask you to add £200,000 to your price."

Now he quit talking altogether. It was no longer necessary. He merely shook his head in negation. He was smiling slightly.

"Then I shall ask you to add £200,000 to your price," his lordship announced without a quaver. "Make your bid £1,600,000 and mail it in time for Wednesday's boat. I sail on the same ship. Proposals will be opened on the 25th. Arrange for an English indemnity bond for 10 per cent of your proposition. Do not communicate in any manner whatsoever with your son except to forward the bid to him. He is not to know of our arrangement. You will meet me in London later. We will take care of that £200,000 out of the last 40 per cent of the contract price, which is payable thirty days after completion, inspection and acceptance of the bridge. You will not consult your associates upon leaving here. The figures are easy to remember—£1,600,000; £1,400,000 to you. I am pleased with the facilities your plant offers for doing the work. I am confident you can complete the bridge on time, and I beg leave to wish you a very pleasant—'Good day.'"

Wylie senior did not really come to until he had reached the street; even then he did not know whether he had come down the elevator or through the mail chute. Of one thing only was he certain, he was due to retire in favor of his son. He guessed he needed a trip through the Holy Land with a guardian and a nursing bottle. He paused on the curb and stamped on his corn for a second time.

"Oh, I'm an idiot!" he declared savagely. "I could have gotten £1,600,000 to start with, but—by gad, Sir Thomas is the coldest blooded thing I ever went against! I can't help but admire him."

Having shown a deplorable lack of foresight, Mr. Wylie determined to make up for it by an ample display of hindsight. If the profits on the job were not to be so large as they might have been, he would at least make certain of them by obeying instructions to the letter. He made out the bid himself. He mailed it with his own hand that very afternoon. He put three blue stamps on the envelope, although it required but two. Then he called up an automobile agency and ordered a town car his wife had admired. He decided that she and the girls might go to Paris for the fall shopping—he might even go with them, in view of that morning's episode.

For ten days he stood the pressure, then on the morning of the 24th he called his confreres into the directors' room, that same room in which young Hanford had made his talk a number of years before. Inasmuch as it was too late now for a disclosure to affect the opening of the bids in London he felt absolved from his promise to Sir Thomas.

"Gentlemen, I have the honor to inform you," he began pompously, "that the Barrata bridge is ours! We have the greatest structural steel job of the decade." His chest swelled with justifiable pride.

"How? When?" they questioned.

He told them of his terse yet comprehensive interview at the Waldorf ten days previous, enjoying their expressions of amazement to the full and explaining in detail the difficulties he had surmounted in securing such liberal figures from Sir Thomas.

"We were ready to take the contract for £1,300,000, as you will remember, but by the exercise of some diplomacy"—he coughed modestly—"I may say, by the display of some firmness and independence, I succeeded in securing a clean profit of $500,000 over what we had expected." He accepted their congratulations with becoming diffidence.

Of course his statement created a sensation, but it was as nothing to the sensation that followed upon the receipt of a cablegram the next day which read:

At Wylie, Newark, New Jersey. Terrible mistake somewhere. We have lost. Am coming home today.

Mr. Jackson Wylie, Sr., also went home that day, by carriage, for, after raving wildly of treachery and cursing the name of some English nobleman, unknown to most of his hearers, he collapsed, throwing the office into confusion. There were rumors of an apoplectic stroke. Some one telephoned for a physician, but the president of the Atlantic Bridge company only howled at him when he came.

What bit the old man deepest was the fact that he could not explain to his associates; that he could not even explain to himself as yet. He could make neither heads nor tails of the affair, for his son was on the high seas and could not be reached. Even when that sorrowful young man arrived, a week after the shock, the father could gather nothing except the bare details at first.

It seemed that the Royal Barrata bridge commission had met on the 25th day of May for the second time in its history with Sir Thomas Drummond in the chair. In the midst of an ultra-British solemnity the bids were opened and read—nine of them, two Belgian, one German, two French, one English, one Scottish and two American.

The only proposals that conformed to the specifications in every respect were the last named. They were perfect. The Atlantic Bridge company of Newark, N. J., offered to do the work as specified for £1,600,000. The Patterson Bridge company, through its authorized agent, Mr. Henry Hanford, named a price of £1,550,000. The rest was but a matter of detail.

Jackson Wylie the second spread his hands in a gesture of despair.

"And I thought I had it cinched all the time," said he dolefully.

"You had it cinched!" bellowed his father. "You ruined it all! Why in hell did you send him over here?"

"I? Send who?"

"That man with the boots! That lying, thieving scoundrel. Sir Thomas Drummond, of course."

The younger Wylie's face showed blank, uncomprehending amazement.

"Sir Thomas Drummond was in London all the time. I saw him daily," said he.

And then Wylie senior began to see clearly for the first time. He did not rave, however. He was stunned. It took him months to taste the full bitterness of it. And even then he might never have understood the matter thoroughly had it not been for a missive he received through the mail. It was a bill from a London shoe store for twelve pairs of boots of varying styles made out to Henry Hanford and marked "Paid."

Mr. Jackson Wylie, Sr., noted with unspeakable chagrin that the last word was heavily underscored in ink, as if by another hand.

Dr. Mayo's Treatment Saved a Child
From Disease and Misery.

Rev. J. L. Reid of Hodgeville, Ky., writes telling of his son's case. The Rev. J. L. Reid is so pleased over the fact that his little son has been restored to health by the treatment of Dr. W. R. Mayo, 843 North Delaware street, Indianapolis, Ind., and he was written the following letter in the hope that it may lead some anxious person to a sure source of health.

Hodgeville, Ky., July 15, 1913.

Dr. Mayo:

My boy you treated is well, and there has not been a symptom of its return now for two years. He had catarrh and hay fever from the time he was 12 months old in a bad form. I tried all the doctors and patent medicines even to the infallible Hall's 'Sure Cure' until I got discouraged and gave up. I was at home (Shelby Co., Ind.) and in Shelbyville in the Democrat office and inquired of you and what the people thought of your cure for chronic diseases. They said good things about you. So I sent for your remedy. The above statement is the result. Sir, I want to thank you with a God bless you for wisdom and skill.

Yours, REV. J. L. REID.

Pastor Hodgeville M. E. Church South Hodgeville, Ky.,

Dr. Mayo will be at the Grand Hotel Tuesday, August 26th.

To all who call on this trip, consultation, examination, advice free, making no charge whatever, except the actual cost of Medicine. All that is asked is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends.

Disease Peculiar to Women Given Special Attention.

I will give the poorest man a chance as well as the rich to receive a cure from me at a small cost. There is no man too poor to get my advice free.

Varicocele and Hydrocele—Our one treatment a cure, is what you should have. Only one visit is required. We do no cutting. All signs disappear within a few days or weeks.

Piles, Fistula—We can cure so quickly and easily that you will be surprised. We will give you just the result and cure you are looking for.

Diseases of the stomach, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart, kidneys or bladder, rheumatism, dropsy sciatica, weak lungs and those afflicted with long standing, deep seated chronic diseases that have baffled the skill of the family physicians. You must not fail to call.

Varicocele and Hydrocele cured in one treatment, no knife and no detention from business.

ELECTRIC MOSQUITO TRAP.

Atlantic County, N. J., May Test Efficiency of Musical Vibrations.

The Atlantic county mosquito commission of New Jersey, which has received a $26,000 appropriation to rid the county of mosquitoes, may try to lure the pests to death by musical vibrations generated by electricity.

According to information which the commission has received, Dr. L. O. Howard of the federal department of agriculture, has discovered that the hum of the mosquito, commonly attributed to the vibration of its wings, is really caused by air expelled during the process of respiration. Dr. Howard learned that this hum could be imitated by electrical vibrations, toward which mosquitoes precipitated themselves as if drawn by a powerful magnet. By placing large strips of sticky flypaper back of the vibrating wires he perfected a deadly exterminator.

Dr. Howard is noted in the department of agriculture as an entomologist and has invented several solutions of mosquito problems.

INDIANA MAN SOUGHT BY WASHINGTON COPS

D. M. Schultz Charged With Shooting Friend.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Francis A. Reilly, twenty years old, clerk to Senator Bristow and formerly an employee of the headquarters of the National Progressive party in this city, is in a critical condition from bullet wounds which he alleges were inflicted by his former chum and associate in the political headquarters, Detlef M. Schultz.

Reilly was found by the police lying wounded on the sidewalk about 100 feet from his home in East Washington and was taken at once to the hospital. Before he was put on the operating table he told the police that the shot had been fired by Schultz.

As the police approached the wounded man lying on the sidewalk, they noticed a slender man make off through the gloom. One of the officers gave chase and the man emptied his revolver in the policeman's direction. The man is known to have been Schultz. The reasons for the shooting are shrouded in mystery.

Schultz's home is at Rolling Prairie, Laporte county, Ind. He is thirty years old and was private secretary to Oscar King Davis, manager of Progressive headquarters. Schultz, the evidence seems to indicate, returned from the far west for the express purpose of killing Reilly. He waylaid his young friend while the latter was returning from Georgetown, where he had called on a girl, and while shaking hands with one hand shot him down with the other. Then he made good his escape.

LEGAL COURSE IN THAW CASE

If Fugitive Is Deported Extradition Will Follow.

THEN WILL COME THE FIGHT

According to General Belief in Canada Harry Thaw Will Be Set Across the Vermont Border, in Which Case New York State Will Make a Desperate Effort to Reclaim Him, Which Will Be Just as Desperately Resisted.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 25.—Harry Thaw still frets and fumes behind an iron grided window of the Sherbrooke jail. He is still confident in himself and has exclaimed more than once: "I am not afraid of Matteawan. I have braved the death chair twice. There is nothing to fear." Thaw is absolutely certain of his sanity.

There remains no doubt as to the legal course that Thaw is going to follow. The habeas corpus writ will be argued Wednesday and, according to universal opinion, he will be delivered over to the immigration authorities. A board from the immigration department will decide whether he is guilty of the charge of being an escaped lunatic and entering Canada by stealth. Should that board decide to deport him his attorneys will appeal to the commissioner of immigration. In the end if he is put across the border in any state outside of New York, there will follow the fight against extradition to New York. But the immigration inquiry will likely take time. There is only the remotest chance that Thaw will be shipped to Vermont on short notice. It is to prevent just this that some of the best lawyers in Canada have been retained for him.

Thaw has outlined his case and has a very clear grip of it. He has instructed his lawyers to keep him in Canada as long as possible and to obtain freedom for him here if they can. He is convinced that public opinion is going to be a powerful factor in his fate whether in Vermont or Canada, and has set out to create sympathy for himself and convey the impression that he has been the victim of his enemies.

He was much concerned lest the people should think he is not personally in charge of his case. "It must be made clear," he emphatically asserted, "that I have been in charge of it all along. It must be understood as well that my lawyers are in perfect accord with me."

Ex-Governor Stone of Pennsylvania is here in behalf of the prisoner to make himself acquainted with the conditions preparatory to extradition proceedings in Newport, Vt., the place where Thaw will probably be sent if deported. All of his attorneys have tried to get Thaw to stop talking for publication. They have failed.

FLATROCK ONCE MORE DEFEATED

League Leaders Are Handed Short End of 3 to 2 Count by Methodists.

CARR PITCHES WINNING BALL Is Not Going to be Waikaway For Farmers as Was First Thought—Game Saturday.

League Standing.

|               | W. | L. | Pct. |
|---------------|----|----|------|
| Flatrock      | 4  | 2  | .666 |
| Presbyterians | 4  | 4  | .500 |
| Methodists    | 3  | 4  | .428 |
| Christians    | 3  | 4  | .428 |

Not to be outdone by the Christians, the Methodists team in the Sunday School league went out Saturday afternoon and handed Flatrock, the league leaders, the short end of a 3 to 2 count. It was the second straight defeat for the Flatrock boys and their hold on first place is gradually slipping. Flatrock is now only one game and a half ahead of Presbyterians and the race for the pennant is not near over. Any one of the four teams has a chance when two weeks ago everything looked to be all for Flatrock. The game Saturday was a pitchers battle between Carr for the Methodists and Halterman for Flatrock. Carr came out on top although he had a close call in the sixth.

Flatrock could not hit the curves of the southpaw and their first safe swat came in the fourth. Their three hits were well scattered. The M. E. team started the scoring in the second, getting two men around. An error, a hit and a base on balls started things. The Flatrock team also counted in the second getting one run. The game went along with the scores two to one until the sixth when the Methodists added another. Two errors were responsible for this one. In this same frame Carr came near losing the game. Hungerford, who was sent to bat for F. Alter, singled but was caught stealing. F. Branson was safe on Taylor's error and scored when E. Halterman drove one to center field. An error by Bebout and a missed third strike let two more get on but the side was retired when Carr caught E. Halterman at the plate.

The game was one of the best so far played in the league. The methodists have played good, bad and indifferent ball and by winning went into a tie with the Christians for the cellar. The game Wednesday has been called off on account of the fair. The next game will be Saturday when the Flatrock team and the Presbyterians clash. The Flatrock team has two victories over the Meachams and the Presbyterians hope to get revenge.

INJURIES PROVED FATAL

Chester Hall Passed Away in Indianapolis Hospital.

Word was received here today that Chester Hall, a brother of Cyrus and Harry Hall of Jersey City, had died in an Indianapolis hospital following injuries sustained when he was hit by an overhead bridge while at work on the railroad. Mr. Hall was twenty-three years old and was well known here having made his home for a number of years with the late Dr. Lot Green. The accident occurred in Ohio and Hall, who was a brakeman, sustained a broken back while riding on top of a car, by being hit while the train was going over the bridge. Besides the two brothers, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Samuel Cooper of Indianapolis. The funeral services will be held here but the time is not yet known.

INFANT FOUND DEAD.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mohler of New Salem was found dead in bed this morning. It is supposed that the child smothered to death.

The local camp of Modern Woodmen will meet next Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

Marion Mock will move from his present residence, 840 North Jackson street, to his residence at 320 West Ninth street, this week.

WHITEWASH IS AGAIN APPLIED

Romine Comes Back With the Shut Out Stuff and Arcadians Fall Once More.

RUSHVILLE IS OUTCLASSED

Big Fellow is Stingy and Allows Only Two Scattered Hits—Todd Gets One.

Big Mike Romine of the Newcastle team came back yesterday stronger than ever and repeated the trick of two weeks ago by shutting the Rushville team out and letting the Arcadians down with two scattered hits. The score was eight to nothing. From a Rushville standpoint it was a weird affair, but to Newcastle it was some victory.

The Rushville team was outclassed from start to finish and for the two hours of pastime there is very little to say outside of the work of the Newcastle team and the work of Romine. Romine as usual was the whole show and with the game safely sewed the big fellow played with the Rushville team. Twice Rushville got men as far as third and two men were caught at the plate, but the team was never dangerous. Two weeks ago it was thought bad enough when the Hookers beat the Arcadians 6 to 0, but the 8 to 0 defeat yesterday clearly shows that Rushville had better leave Romine and Newcastle alone.

"Chick" Avery started the game for Rushville, but "Chick" did not fare well at the hands of the Newcastle sluggers. They took a fine liking to his slants. Avery retired after three innings and Lon Jones took up the task. In the three innings Newcastle secured seven safe swats off Avery and scored six of their eight runs.

Avery got a bad start. In the first inning the jinx was on the job as usual and after two men were out two runs counted. The first two men were easy. Wilson, the third man up was safe on Tompkins' error and scored on Smith's three base hit to left field. Mattern dropped a high fly from Stiers' bat and Smith scored. These two runs seemed to take all the pep out of the locals. There was nothing doing in the second, but the third was the big noise.

In the third Newcastle jumped all over Avery and four hits, two errors and a hit batsman netted four runs. Bauman singled and stole second. Stadfelt was safe when Avery failed to field a hit in time and all were safe. Avery hit Wilson, filling the bases. Smith hit a high one to Jones in right field and Bauman scored on the error. Stiers went for the first out when he struck out. With the bases filled Brubaker cleaned them with a two bagger to center, but was caught trying to reach third. Glancey singled and took third when Tompkins fumbled Graves' grounder. The side was retired when Romine grounded to Cook.

Jones took up the work in the fourth. The only time Newcastle was able to connect safely with any success was in this first inning. Jones pitched a nice game and the seven hits were well scattered.

The two hits off Romine came in the second and eighth. The first was made by Cook, and the last by Charles Todd, a local boy who was given a chance in right field when Jones went in the box. The only time Rushville came close to scoring was in the seventh and then it looked as though Romine was playing with the team. Mattern was safe on Bauman's error. Cook was safe on Wilson's error. A passed ball and both advanced. Bridgeman laid down a bunt and Avery, who ran for Mattern was caught at the plate, Romine to Graves. Bridgeman went to second and drew the throw to second from Graves. Cook who was on third started home but was caught, Brubaker to Graves. Both plays were close and it seemed a shame that the Arcadians could not have counted.

In the second Cook got as far as third, but could not count. Cook singled and stole second. Aug flew to Romine. Bridgeman was out

Newcastle 2 0 4 0 1 0 1 0—8

Three base hit—Smith. Two base hits—Smith, Brubaker, Glancey. Hits of Avery, 7, in three innings. Struck out—by Romine, 7; by Avery, 2; by Jones, 5. Hit by pitcher—by Avery, Wilson. Base on balls—off Romine, 1. Left on base—Rushville, 3; Newcastle, 7. Stolen bases—Rushville, 3; Newcastle, 4. Umpire, Kinnett. Time, 1:45.

Brubaker to Glancey and Cook took second. Jones ended things by flying out to center.

Romine was given swell support in the pinches, and with his own work it is no wonder Rushville had no show. Stiers pulled off the feature catch of the day in left field. Yazel hit a high one that headed for the willows. Stiers backed up against the trees and pulled down the ball. His catch was as clever a one as ever seen on the local grounds and probably spoiled a home run for Yazel.

There is no use making bones about the defeat—class told and there sure is a lot of it on the Newcastle team.

Notes of the Game

Romine sure has it on the Rushville team. In the three games that he has faced the team—two this year and one last—Rushville has secured a total of ten hits and made but one run. In the game last year four hits were made and the one run counted. This year it has been impossible to count and only six hits have been made.

Newcastle came on a special train and a crowd of 125 accompanied the team.

Only one of the new players from Cincinnati arrived. That was Aug who played third base. Aug looks to be a ball player and will be retained. Flick who was to have come failed to catch the train, but promises to be here next Sunday. He will play short. Tompkins played there yesterday and did as well as could be expected.

The Indianapolis Specials, who defeated the Arcadians early in the year will be the attraction here next Sunday.

The crowd was all with Todd and no one was any happier than he when he connected safely off Romine.

There is no getting around the fact that Newcastle has a well balanced team, but at that their main stay is the pitcher. Romine, it is a safe bet will be in the big show next year.

Ralph Pierce had a nice day in left field, getting four put-outs and one assist. Stiers had two put-outs and one from Yazel's bat was the hardest chance of the game. "Pappy" seems to have lost his batting eye as he failed to connect.

The anvil chorus was busy as usual but there is nothing to kick about. The game was clean and it was simply a case of too much Romine and a better team.

The Whole Duty of a Tailored Suit

To fulfill the requirements of fastidious womanhood, the modern ready-to-wear tailored suit must combine all of these features:

1. It must show true style in cut, lines and trimming.
2. It must "fit well," "hang well" and "set well."
3. It must look like a custom-made garment.
4. It must be so well tailored and be of such good materials that it will retain its good appearance through hard service. And—
5. It must be reasonably priced.

All of which can be said in one word, WOOLTEX

It is precisely because Wooltex garments live up to these requirements that they are now the best known and best liked make of women's wear in the country
